Intro: D6 A9 G D

                  D                  Dmaj7          G                  D
When a man loves his woman, and a woman loves her man
Bm                  D                  Em                  A9 A
They can feel that channel open . . . anybody can
          G          Gbm          D          D/Db          Bm
And as it opens wider, the love will grow and grow
          G          G/Gb Em          harmonics          D6          A9          G          D
My love for you is . . . just as bright . . . as the colours . . . of the rainbow

When a life is lived together, together man and wife
The give and take becomes a loving, giving, sharing live
Cause all the love you give is greater than the love you hold
My love for you is just as bright as the colours of the rainbow

          G                  Gbm          D          D/Db          Bm
And when the two are ready to be joined in spirit's name
Em                  Bm          Em                  A9          A
Waiting for forever, and a heartbeat's just the same
          G                  Gbm                  D          D/Db          Bm
Cause now's the only time of life when spirit ever flows
Em                  Bm          Em                  A9          A          (pause)
Anyone can talk about it . . . but you're the one who knows
          G                  Gbm                  D          D/Db          Bm
And now that two are joined as one, don't you let that channel close
          G                  G/Gb Em          harmonics          D6          A9          G          D
My life with you is just as bright . . . . . as the colours . . . of the rainbow
My life with you is just as bright . . . . . as the colours . . . of the rainbow
