On the Road
~ 1979

G C Cmaj7 G D9
Home is where you rest your bones, and dream a cracklin' fire . . . while you roam
G C Cmaj7 G D9 G
Home is where you hang your hat, a rocking chair . . . and a lazy cat

And home is where you stretch and grow, grow and build a life of your own
Home is where your heart is at, but while you roam, home is where you're at

C G
And home could be most anywhere
C D9
You see so many houses, but a feel like home is rare
C9 G G/Gb Em
But there must be a dream somewhere . . . that doesn't turn to air
G C G D G
A dream of home of our own . . . and going there

Bm C G
Whoa, should I dream of home so
C D9
So many feel they can not leave, I feel like going home
C9 G G/Gb Em
So blow you winds of change, blow right down my door
G C G D C9
Where weary winds can rest and stay . . . my homeward shore

Break (verse structure)

And home is where you're at your best, if not, there is no better place to be at rest
Home is where you rise above, and share yourself with those you really love

Home is where the food is good, a place to laugh, joke and smile, and knock on wood
Home is where the old folks go, the young folks play, and the children grow

Chorus

G C G D C9 G
And if we could be anywhere . . . home is . . . where . . . my home is where
